The weather in February has made for a challenging time here at school. Students don't know if they should be dressed for winter or spring with the up and down temperatures.

It has been a very busy month, but they all seem that way! Report cards went home just before family day weekend. Hopefully students and parents took this time as a chance to set some goals for the remainder of the year. Research has shown that when we sit down and actually write out those goals we are far more successful in meeting them! I know the staff and I have been looking at student achievement throughout the year and will again be setting out key instructional strategies to address areas of students' needs.

Ms St John's class has been enjoying their time at the curling club and Ms Hawkin's class has just started their program there as well. These kinds of experiences give students a chance to try an activity they may be involved in for the rest of their lives. Other classes have activities planned for later in the year.

March break is just around the corner and for those travelling I hope you have a great time!
